THE ANNUAL REPORT 2017

INTRODUCTION

Our Inspiration –

Late Ganga Devi.-- Her Mission was to educate and empower the women in Bihar.

Late Anjani Prasad—First Principal – A woman for God and a woman for others.

Late Sheo Nandan Prasad. Founder Secretary— A visionary dedicated to the betterment of society.

Ganga Devi Mahila Mahavidyalaya was established in 1971 by late Sheo Nandan Prasad, in the loving memory of his mother Late Ganga Devi and became fully operational in 1976. Late Ganga Devi was a well-learned woman, even in the early days of modern Indian society, which is why she deeply understood the importance of education. She guided all her children to pursue higher studies and contribute to the development of the country in different spheres.

In addition, she was a devoutly religious woman and she published a book of devotional poems named ' "Bhajnanjali' which received widespread acclaim.

In the early days the classes of the college ran in two rooms of Shree Raghunath Prasad Balika Uchchya Vidyalaya, Kankarbagh, a government school also established by our founder. Later, the college moved to other rented buildings for capacity expansion. In 1985, the college became a constituent unit of the Magadh University, Bodh Gaya. It moved to its permanent campus a decade later, and has ever since witnessed a series of initiatives to be in tune with the demands of modern society.

To date, it remains the only college of women in Kankarbagh, Patna, one of Asia's largest residential colonies, and has been solely dedicated to imparting higher education to women. Therefore, the institution caters to a large urban population while it also attracts girl students from nearby sub-urban and rural pockets belonging to different socio-economic backgrounds to get enrolled and pursue their dreams of a successful career.

The college lies under the mentorship and guidance of the Government of Bihar, the University Grants Commission and the Magadh University. The founder's vision of creating an equitable society by empowering women with knowledge and skills and turning them into responsible citizens with strong moral values is reflected in the motto of the college "Vidya Dadati Vinayam" or "Knowledge leads to humility".

Our Patron- Hon Vice Chancellor

We are fortunate to have as the First Vice-Chancellor , of Patliputra University, Dr Gulab Chand Ram Jaiswal. Magadh University, Bodh Gaya, was bifurcated on 18th April, 2018, with creation of Patliputra University, comprising of colleges situated in Patna and Nalanda Districts of Bihar, with its headquarters at Patna . Our college is now governed by Patliputra University. Prof. G C R Jaiswal, is an Eminent Professor of Commerce at Banaras Hindu University, Varanasi. His guidance and blessings shall be a boon for the all round development of our college.

Principal's Message

“Knowledge is now no more a fountain sealed” said the poet a century ago.

The college is a venue where students of different castes and creeds belonging to varied states of life, blend together & indulge in the various activities, academic, cultural and physical and these young people strive together to seek common goals. We have incorporated liberal and modern methods with the traditional disciplined teaching style so that a healthy relation between teachers and the taught is brought. Students are free to share and discuss their ideas with their teachers. The holistic approach towards institution is to successfully face the challenge of being accredited with B grade by the National Assessment and Accredited council (NAAC) in February 2017 with CGPA 2.46.

Ganga Devi Mahila Mahavidyalaya, located in Patna - the epicenter of socio-cultural upheaval of the ancient Indian society, was established in 1971 with a mission of empowering women through higher education, in line with the founder's vision of an equitable Indian society. Though it became fully established and recognized in 1976.

Vision: Ganga Devi Mahila Mahavidyalaya envisages the creation of an equitable society where women are self-empowered with modern education, training, high quality skills and moral values to make meaningful personal and professional contribution to the real world.

Mission : Ganga Devi Mahila Mahavidyalaya's mission is to provide high quality education opportunities to girl students from diverse socio-economic backgrounds; to create avenues for students to choose a desired career path; to develop sustainable infrastructure suitable for intellectual awakening; to enhance participative learning through extra-curricular activities; to promote research temperament; to enable students to acquire new skills and to groom them into responsible individuals.

I thank the members of the committee, who have helped in compiling this Annual report.

IQAC Members Message

Look up and not down look forward and not back look out and not in and lend a hand surging ahead in life

Towards their brethren helping others in their hour of need should come naturally to their students. It should give birth to kindness, compassion and other finer qualities in life. Helping others has always been the motto of our college.

It is always a gratifying experience to see our's family grow. . We consciously impart good values and moral to our students. Our students are able to respect the ideals of liberty, equality and fraternity. They endeavor to understand that everyone is equal and have a sympathetic and considerate attitude. I would like to congratulate and thank my dear students of the College.
